PRESS RELEASE

16 July 2010

North London Mayors visit EcoPark

LondonWaste Ltd one of Capital's leading waste management companies presented seven North London Mayors with a donation to support their chosen charities.

The presentation, which took place on the 14th July, also enabled the Mayors to see firsthand the work carried out at the EcoPark. The Mayors first toured the Compost Centre, which receives organic waste from seven North London boroughs and turns it into rich compost, then the Energy Centre which uses black bagged rubbish to generate enough energy to power 66,000 homes.

LondonWaste Ltd Managing Director, David Sargent, has encouraged support for the Mayors charities for some years now. He said "We are proud to be involved in fundraising for the Mayors and it is a pleasure to be supporting the local community."

Notes to Editor:

- The EcoPark Compost Centre received 35,000 tonnes of green garden waste and kitchen scraps last year (2009). Within 12 weeks it was turned into compost. Over 10,000 tonnes has been returned to the community for use in allotment, parks, gardens and other open spaces.
- LondonWaste Ltd provides efficient and environmentally responsible solutions to divert waste from landfill via a full range of services from recycling, composting, and energy recovery right through to secure disposal. The Company manages waste using specialised sites in London.
